THIRTY-FOURTH YEAR, NO. 40.

CEDARVILLE, OHIO, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 6, 1911.

PRICE, $1.00 A YEAR

WILL VOTE ON TAX INCREASE.

Council met in regular session Monday evening at which time the tax question was under discussion. Under the new one per cent law the tax duplicate will not be large enough to furnish sufficient revenue for next year. Council, along with all other taxing bodies, can not levy more than ten mills or one per cent. In case this rate will not bring sufficient money the people may vote for an increase, but this may not be greater than five mills in addition to the first tax, making a total for all purposes, fifteen mills or one and one-half per cent.

Postmaster Wright was present, representing the village Board of Education, but there was no agreement as to the division of the extra five mills between council and the board. The school board will also ask the people to increase their levy. It was mutually agreed between members of council that they would ask for three mills and let the school board do the same.

According to figures presented the tax rate, without the additional to be asked of the people, will be 11.5 mills that was voted for electric light two or three years ago. Considering this there is but 3.5 mills left to be divided between council and school board in case the majority of the people vote to approve of the increase. Council wanted to pass and passed a resolution asking the people to give them an additional three mills, and the same will be certified to the clerk of the board of elections.

The report of the various committees were read and approved. The mayor's report showed that during the month fines had been assessed to the amount of $9, but $15 was all that was collected. Licenses amounted to $4, making a total collected, $19. Bills and salaries were ordered paid to the amount of $35.51.

RESOLUTION.

Whereas the Board of Education for Cedarville Village School District, Greene county, Ohio, at a special meeting held October 5th, 1911, having ascertained that the amount of taxes that may be raised by the levy of taxes at the minimum rate authorized by sections 5549-2, and 5549-3a of the General Code will be insufficient, and that it is expedient to levy taxes in excess of said rate, therefore,

The Senior Loyal Temperance Legion held its regular meeting Tuesday evening, Sept. 26. Prof. Allen gave an inspiring and profitable address, using as his subject, "Elements of a Good Resolution" basing it on the text, "Daniel purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself." The legion extended him a vote of thanks and hope they may be favored with an address from him again.

All the young people of the town who are not already members of the Senior L. T. L. are cordially invited to attend their meetings, thus deriving the benefits of this drill and lending their influence for the moral uplift of the people of Cedarville. The regular meeting will be postponed until Tuesday evening, Oct. 17.

Valuable Horse Is Stolen.

Springfield is a rich field for horse stealing something like fifteen horses being taken from the streets in about three weeks. The latest belonged to Mr. David Dixon, who suffered the loss of a valuable sorrel mare Wednesday night that had been hatched on the spot.

The police were notified but up to this time no trace has been found. Mr. Dixon is a member of the Cedarville Protective Association and cards were mailed at Thursday offering a reward for the return of the horse and condition of the thief.

The horse was about three years old, 15 hands high, black, big eye, a good looking horse, but was taken about eight o'clock.

Members of the association that are delinquent should pay up and be in good standing for this territory might be the next visited.

Sunday Meetings Draws Crowds.

The evangelistic meetings held in Springfield by "Billy" Sunday are drawing great crowds, the seating capacity being more than 7,000. Special meetings for laboring men, clerks, church members and various classes have worked up considerable interest.

The attendance is increased to a considerable extent by people from the surrounding towns and townships. Quite a few from here have taken advantage of hearing the noted speaker. As with any other evangelist the people have different ideas of the good accomplished and some approve of the methods used to reach the people while others disapprove.

However varied may be the views of people all are convinced that Sunday has a wonderful influence over men and if given half a chance will win them.

Stevenson Out As Candidate.

Col. John B. Stevenson, formerly county commissioner, is a candidate for delegate to the constitutional convention and it is said that his petitions are being circulated in various parts of the county. The only other announced candidate that has papers filed is Dr. S. D. Fess, president of Antioch College. Attorney Robert Hood is a receptive candidate but has not filed any papers. Thus Miami township will be called upon to furnish two candidates for this honor, both Dr. Fess and Col. Stevenson living in that township.

Mr. Renter, did you know that the rent you pay your landlord will in three to five years pay for one of these farms of the same size as the farm you are renting?

Is not such a proposition worth investigating? Following are a few of the men who have bought these lands.

You are welcome to talk with any of them or write them. They are all satisfied customers.

When Surgery Was Cruelty.
The extreme clumsiness and cruelty with which operations were performed even subsequent to the fifteenth century would scarcely be credited had we not authentic descriptions of them by the operators. Thus Fabricius of Aquapendente (1537-1619), the eminent professor at Padua and precursor of the immortal Harvey, describes what he considered an improved and easy operation in the following terms: "If it be a movable tumor I cut it away with a red-hot knife that sears as it cuts, but if it be adhered to the chest I cut with a blunt knife soaked in aqua fortis, with which, having cut the skin, I dig out the rest with my fingers." When the surgeons of Edinburgh were incorporated it was required as a prerequisite that they should be able to read and write, "to know the anatomy, nature and complexion of every member of human body and likewise to know all raynes of the same, that he may make fewthein in due time."

Buying a Dog.
Buying a dog is not so easy as it looks, there is so much "faking." A good Irish terrier, for instance, should have a stiff, wiry coat, a pronounced red color, a long, narrow head, small eyes and ears which hang down. The ears of a bull terrier, an Aberdeen terrier or a Yorkshire terrier should stick up. But be careful that the wily dealer has not produced this effect with cardboard. A dog that has a shovel shaped mouth, with the under jaw protruding upward, and a wide chest. There are one or two things to look out for in buying a dog. Some dealers try to palm off an old dog as a young one by scraping his yellow teeth, which show signs of age, and painting his gray muzzle. Bright eyes are often produced by a smear of vaseline and a cold nose produced by Stockholm tar. But you can detect the presence of these aids by smell.—Chicago Record-Herald.

A Famous Welsh Fortress.
Camraron castle is the most splendid specimen of medieval military architecture surviving in Britain, not excepting Alnwick. Art and beauty were combined with strength by De Eilreton, the architect, who had been commanded to construct a palace within an impregnable fortress. Whether the mean little passage chamber in the Eagle tower was the birthplace of the infant prince whom Edward I. made the medium of a grim practical joke upon the Welsh seems doubtful, but the main story may still be true. Every famous soldier who helped to make history in this corner of Britain has played some part within or without the walls of Camraron castle. It has been starved into surrender, but never captured by force of arms and can therefore claim to be considered a "virgin fortress."—Westminster Gazette.

Gloves and Kings.
Gloves have always been connected with royalty. When the tomb of King John was opened a century ago it was discovered that his hands were gloved. In France the gloves worn by the king at the coronation were consecrated by the coronating bishop, and at English coronations a glove is thrown down as a challenge to any one to dispute the royal title. When George II. was crowned, an unknown Jacobite came forward and lifted the glove on behalf of the absent Stuart, and at the coronation of Edward VII. the Duke of Norfolk handed to his majesty a pair embroidered with the dual arms because a minor connected with the duke's inheritance is held by the service of presenting the monarch with a right hand glove on the day of the coronation.—T. P.'s London Weekly.

A Battleship's Eyes.
In the design and equipment of Uncle Sam's never battleships no feature is more noticeable than the facilities afforded for observation by the officers and men stationed on the bridge—observations of the beacons and other aids to navigation, but more especially observations of the movements of a supposed enemy. On the bridge and on the "fire control" tower overhead are to be found artificial aids for the "eyes of the battleship," ranging all the way from old fashioned glasses to the powerful telescopes and kindred amplifiers of distance that are too large to be supported at arm's length and manipulated after the fashion of the spyglasses of the ancient mariner.—Detroit Free Press.

Saved Himself.
Uncle Mose, a plantation negro, was being asked about his religious affiliations. "I'm a preacher, sah," he said. "Do you mean," asked the astonished questioner, "that you preach the gospel?" Mose felt himself getting into deep water. "No, sah," he said. "Ah touches that subject very light."—Success Magazine.

Brine.
Brine boils at 225 degrees F., and at this degree fine salt is formed. At 105 degrees F. common salt results and is heavy, or large grained, at 110 degrees F. The salt crystallizes on the surface of the brine in the pans, floats a little and then sinks to the bottom, leaving it free from fresh crystals.

INITIATIVE, REFERENDUM AND SINGLE TAX

(Athens Tribune.)

Tremendous efforts are being made to get the initiative and referendum into the constitution of Ohio. A great deal of money is being expended to bring public opinion in this state to favor it. Joseph Fels, the millionaire soap manufacturer, probably believes that the I. and R. would be a good thing as a means for bringing about the single tax of which he is also a great advocate. He thinks he can well afford to put hundreds of thousands of dollars into these two propaganda, for as he sees it, if land paid all the taxes and no other kind of property paid any, what a fine thing it would be for the manufacturers, the bankers, the tradesmen and everybody who has his wealth in anything else but land. Nobody seems to like paying taxes and nearly everybody would rather somebody else paid them. This is the reason why so many try to evade paying taxes on what is called intangible property, such as money, bonds and stocks. To these people it seems so easy to make the land pay taxes and all the taxes that they are anxious to see it done and themselves relieved. There is not the slightest doubt that the underlying motive of those who favor the single tax advocate the I. and R. as a means whereby the necessary for governmental purposes shall all be derived from land.

W. S. O'Ren of Oregon City, Ore., who has been a powerful advocate of several of the Oregon reforms, so called, says: "We have cleared the way for a straight single tax fight in Oregon. All the work we have done for direct legislation (the initiative and referendum) has been done with the single tax in view, but we have not talked single tax because that was not the question before the house. Now that question is before the house in Oregon and we will discuss it."

"In that state, since we first began our work with the single tax as the goal in view, we have confined ourselves to the questions to be voted on at the next election. To do otherwise is to confuse the voters."

"The Joseph Fels Trust Commission began its work with the definite aim to put the single tax into operation somewhere in the United States within five years, and it will succeed in that work."

By means of the I. and R. in Oregon the single taxers actually got a law passed by the aid of farmers' votes to give any county the right to adopt any form of taxation it pleased. The bait on the hook which caught the Oregon farmers was the abolition of poll tax and it shows the extent of the Oregon farmers' foresight for the single taxers in that a majority has no land can vote that the land owners shall pay all the taxes. Now suppose two counties adjoining which are about equal in all respects. In one all property is taxed, in the other only the land is taxed, in which county will land be worth the most? In a county in which all property is taxed a change is made so that land alone is taxed, what effect will it have on the value of land?

Some of those Oregon farmers may find out before long that they have been handed a gold brick by the single taxers. It will be a long time before Ohio farmers will be sure they are ready for any sort of result before they declare themselves in favor of the political panacea for all the ills of the body politic known as the initiative and referendum. The single taxers are shrewd and alert and they are not spending a million of dollars to change our method of taxation without hope of financial betterment of themselves therefrom.

HERBERT BIGELOW IS A SINGLE TAXER

Besides making an attack upon the Ohio State Board of Commerce, Rev. Herbert S. Bigelow at a Progressive League meeting in Columbus this week, discussed the initiative and referendum and, more than that, was forced to admit that he is a single taxer. In reporting the meeting the Ohio State Journal prints this: "The question asked most persistently was whether or not the initiative and referendum was a step toward the single, or land, tax scheme. Rev. Mr. Bigelow had to discuss the question from a personal standpoint. "Are you a single taxer?" asked someone in the audience. "Yes," answered Bigelow.—Ohio Journal of Commerce.

FATE OF NEW CONSTITUTION

The way to kill the chance which this year brings of a new constitution for Ohio, one up with the times and adequate to meet the needs of the commonwealth, is to crowd into it all of the "live-wire" issues possible. Load it down with the largest possible array of dynamic and hotly disputed questions and its doom will be sealed before the voting begins.—Cleveland Leader.

WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION FOR OCTOBER.

The October Woman's Home Companion contains the first chapter of a new serial, "The Poor Lady" by Mary E. Wilkins Freeman. It is a story of modern American life, and is chiefly concerned with two women—one an ambitious and unscrupulous wife; the other, fine, high-minded and womanly.

In the same number a well known financial authority writes an article of interest and importance to every woman. He describes the various set for dishonest business concerns to catch women investors, and tells many stories of real life illustrating his points.

Other notable articles are: "Experiments in Spending," "The Girlhood of Madame Schumann-Heink," "The Moving Picture Show," "Money Making at Home" and "Women Painters of America."

Splendid fiction is furnished by Juliet Wilbur Tompkins, Julia Truitt Bishop, Ernest Poole and Barr Moses.

On the practical side the October Companion is of special value. Its great fashion and household departments are unusually full of useful suggestions and interesting readings.

TREE CANKERS.

There is apparently urgent need for early recognition of certain branch diseases known as cankers in the apple orchards of Ohio, and for prompt preparation to deal with them. Where dying branches occur, the cause of local death should be learned; if from a local dead area with roughened dead one may feel reason to suspect apple canker. If at the same time dead pruning stubs from other years are surrounded by an area of dead bark or wood, then such infection of the pruning wounds would indicate the prevalence of this disease. The spores of the canker fungi are carried by such agencies as wind, rain, etc. Between now and next March is the proper time to seek out cankers and prepare for their destruction; better results are promised by early fall removal. While picking apples keep eyes open for these contagious diseases.

Three forms of canker are quite frequent over the state and one of these the blister canker, has been found by the Experiment Station to be exceedingly abundant especially upon bearing orchards in southern and eastern Ohio. The black rot canker and the cankers caused by pear blight organisms are well distributed. Other canker forms are known and all are being studied. All forms are shown by death of the bark and threaten the life of the bearing orchard; they are in a way to inflict heavy losses if neglected. Blister cankers seem to enter through wounds which are unprotected. To meet canker, early pruning and burning of dying branches are urged. The diseased bark, etc., from such spots must be burned if spores are to be destroyed and infection reduced.
